

Fidelis Companies

"Tommy was a vital part of our most recent SAP Project. His ability to provide superior resources was critical to the projects successful delivery. Several of the resources Tommy provided were elite and were only made available by his relentless efforts to identify talent. It was a significant relief to have Tommy taken on this effort so that the project teams could focus their energies elsewhere."

Project Manager,
Oil & Gas Company

"In my dealings with John, I've found him to be very professional, fair, and personable, promptly providing feedback to me when any news on projects came to light. That was very much appreciated, because many recruiters provide very limited feedback, let alone checking in with the consulting to see how things are going. This is a rare quality in this business and sets John distinctly apart from others. I wouldn't hesitate to work with John in the future and highly recommend him."
